President,
University of Colorado
Boulder, Colorado

Sir:

I have been reading, with disgust and a rising indignation, of the results of Dr. Condon's "investigation"-- or lack of it, I should say--of U.F.O.'s, at the University of Colorado,--the so-called "Colorado Project." I say "so-called" because a project which takes $50,000 of the public's funds to make no real investigation whatsoever, no spot-checks, nothing but a few humorous remarks from that great wit, Dr. Condon-- can certainly not be called a real project, though an expensive one. I see that NICAP ~~refuses~~ refuses to publicly call Dr. Condon dishonest. Were I in their place, I am afraid I should not be so polite. $50,000 of public funds is rather an expensive price to pay for a few sneers from Dr. Condon. I would not quarrel vehemently with anyone who called him a fool, but I don't think he is all that funny.

(Mrs. Thomas Howard)

Most sincerely,

Thomas M. Howard
